NEWSPAPERS IN MICROFORM: FOREIGN COUNTRIES, 1948-1972 NOW AVAILABLE
FROM THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

Newspapers in Microform: Foreign Countries, 1948-1972, the foreign newspaper volume of the new edition of Newspapers in Microform (formerly Newspapers on Microfilm) was recently published by the Library of Congress. Copies may be ordered from: Library of Congress, Card Division, Navy Yard Annex, Washington, D.C. 20541. The price is $10.00.

The 269-page volume is a cumulation of all reports contained in the foreign countries sections of earlier editions of Newspapers on Microfilm (1948-1967), together with reports received through the summer of 1972. The volume lists 8,620 foreign newspaper titles held in 1,935 localities both within the United States and abroad. Bibliographic information about each title is provided, along with a total of 833 cross references. The catalog entries were prepared from reports submitted by 258 domestic and foreign libraries, as well as 12 domestic and 28 foreign commercial firms. An alphabetical title index is included, and the volume is hardbound. Entries are arranged by countries in alphabetical order; location of the microform is indicated by a standard library symbol based on the latest edition of Symbols of American Libraries and by additional symbols for foreign libraries and commercial micropublishers.

The companion volume describing domestic papers, titled Newspapers in Microform: United States, 1948-1972, is also available. It lists 34,289 titles held in 7,457 localities. The price of this hardbound 1,056-page compilation is $30.00, and it should also be ordered from: Library of Congress, Card Division, Navy Yard Annex, Washington, D.C. 20541.

NEW FOREIGN GAZETTE
MICROFILMING PROJECT
BEING ORGANIZED

The Library of Congress and the New York Public Library have agreed to undertake a new foreign gazette microfilming project. Plans for the project are still being formulated, but news about its development and about the availability of individual gazettes on microfilm will be reported in this publication, which has expanded its title and scope accordingly. The Foreign Newspaper and Gazette Report will be issued three times a year.

Since the cessation in 1971 of the New York Public Library/3M Corporation foreign official gazette microfilm project, a renewed gazette filming effort has been the goal of the Foreign Gazette Microfilm Committee (Ad Hoc) of the American Library Association's Resources and Technical Services Division. The Association of Research Libraries has also been interested in gazette microfilming, and in November 1973 the scope of its Foreign Newspaper Microfilm Committee was expanded to include foreign gazettes. The new LC/NYPL project will continue the microfilming of most of the national gazettes formerly microfilmed as part of the New York Public Library/3M Corporation project. While retrospective microfilming of individual titles will be part of the project, the initial focus is on the resumption of the filming of current national gazettes. It now appears that about 175 national gazettes eventually will be microfilmed on a continuing basis.

While the overall project is still in the planning stages, the filming of a few titles has started. The rate at which microfilming can proceed will depend on the success of the Library of Congress and the New York Public Library in obtaining additional support for this activity. Since very little current gazette microfilming has occurred since 1971, there is a huge backlog of titles awaiting collation and filming. A grant has been requested which would support, for one year, the preparation of gazette files for filming at both the Library of Congress and the New York Public Library. It would also enable the Library of Congress to compile a union list of original and microform gazette holdings in American libraries, thus providing a firm bibliographic base for the gazette program.

Tentatively, the Library of Congress plans to microfilm national gazettes from Latin America, Asia, the Middle East, and northern Africa; the New York Public Library will be responsible for titles from Europe, the British Commonwealth (except for India and other countries covered by Library of Congress Public Law 480 activities), and Africa south of the Sahara. Interested libraries will be able to purchase the positive microfilm produced on a title-by-title basis. It is hoped that replacement issues for microfilming can be obtained from other institutions with strong foreign official gazette collections. It is possible that selected titles may be microfilmed at institutions other than LC or NYPL. Because of the expected cooperation from other institutions, the new program is in effect a national gazette filming program. Further details are contained in the minutes of the recent meeting of the RTSD Foreign Gazette Committee, reproduced on page 7.

BACKFILE DEMAND PURCHASE POLICY. Upon request of a subscriber, the project will purchase individual titles for years earlier than those now held. This policy is limited to newspapers currently being acquired. If microfilm does not exist for the years requested, the project will attempt to acquire original issues for microfilming. Requests should be made through the interlibrary loan system and should reflect actual research needs.

REPLACEMENT ISSUES. It would be appreciated if libraries holding current hardcopy subscriptions to any of the titles listed below so inform Mrs. Elizabeth Sweetland, head, Foreign Newspaper Microfilm Project. The project receives and microfilms these titles, but additional sources are often needed to obtain replacement issues.

MEETING OF THE ARL
FOREIGN NEWSPAPER MICROFILM
COMMITTEE AT ALA MIDWINTER

A meeting of the ARL Foreign Newspaper Microfilm Committee was held on January 20, 1974; it was conducted by John G. Lorenz, Deputy Librarian of Congress and committee chairman. Committee members in attendance were Basil Stuart-Stubbs, Librarian, University of British Columbia; Lucien White, associate dean of library administration, University of Illinois--Urbana; and Gordon R. Williams, director, Center for Research Libraries. Also present were Stephen A. McCarthy, executive director of ARL; John Finzi, assistant director for library resources, Reference Department, Library of Congress; Kay F. Wexler and Imre T. Jarmy of the Catalog Publication Division, Library of Congress; and John Y. Cole, coordinator, Foreign Newspaper Microfilming, Reference Department, Library of Congress.

Mr. Lorenz asked Mr. Cole to report on developments at the Library of Congress in foreign newspaper microfilming during the past year, and particularly on the activities of his office. Mr. Cole noted that three issues of Foreign Newspaper Report were issued in 1973; it is now distributed to over 800 libraries, research institutions, area studies specialists, and commercial micropublishers throughout the world. He described various projects undertaken by his office and the nature of its cooperative work with the ARL Foreign Newspaper Microfilm Project. An important development during the year concerns the Microfilming Corporation of America (MCA), which has announced plans to stop microfilming 17 major foreign newspaper titles. All of these titles were microfilmed by either the ARL project or the Library of Congress before MCA obtained exclusive filming rights; new arrangements are now being made for the ARL project and LC to resume filming these papers. MCA will donate the negative microfilm for the years it filmed to the institution resuming the microfilming. The coordinator's office is watching this situation closely and is keeping libraries informed about developments through the Foreign Newspaper Report. The highlight of the year was the recent publication by the Library of Newspapers in Microform: Foreign Countries, 1948-1972. Imre T. Jarmy, editor of the publication, was asked to explain the major differences between this volume and earlier editions and to respond to questions.

Mr. Jarmy noted that this was the first edition published in two volumes, one describing newspapers in foreign countries, the other concerned with U.S. newspapers. The new volumes contain nearly twice as many entries as the last edition, the title index is a new feature, and the work for the first time has been published in hardbound form. Plans for publicizing the volumes and for encouraging wider participation by reporting institutions were discussed, as were possible formats for supplementing and cumulating the work in the future. The committee congratulated Mr. Jarmy and the Library of Congress on the publication of this important bibliographic work and expressed the hope that it could be cumulated at regular intervals.

Mr. Williams reported on several matters concerning the ARL project. It was agreed that payment of royalties to publishers by the project was not a desirable practice and should be avoided if possible; if it could not be, terms were to be negotiated on an individual title basis. After discussion, the committee agreed to Mr. Williams' suggestion that the ARL make special arrangements, similar to those made by the Center for Research Libraries itself, enabling the New York State Library to make use of the project's collection. The arrangement would be experimental and the agreed-upon fee would be subject to change, depending on the use made of the collection. The committee also endorsed Mr. Williams' recommendation regarding project participation by university branch libraries: if a university library subscribes to the project, its branch libraries will be permitted to join upon payment of the annual subscription fee, but they will not have to pay the back fee.

The question of retrospective purchase of newspapers on microfilm by the project was discussed in relation to its financial position, which according to the most recent audit report appears to be relatively comfortable. It was pointed out that last year the committee agreed to spend "approximately 50 percent of the funds on additional titles as they are requested by project subscribers." It was noted that last year the project's retrospective purchases totaled approximately $5,600; the committee, however, encouraged a more active retrospective purchase program. Mr. Cole stated that it would be possible for his office to furnish the project with details about the availability of retrospective files for titles that the project had assumed responsibility for microfilming on a current basis. Mr. Williams noted that he had not yet seen the most recent audit report but felt that it might not reflect the full financial situation; he will study it and present a complete analysis at the May ARL meeting. Mr. McCarthy felt this was desirable and that a detailed annual report concerning the project was also needed.

Mr. Lorenz reminded the committee that its scope had recently been expanded to include foreign gazettes as well as foreign newspapers. A new project for the microfilming of foreign official gazettes at the national level is being developed jointly by LC and the New York Public Library. Mr. Cole briefly outlined the dimensions of the project and noted that it would be explained in detail at the meeting later in the week of the RTSD Foreign Gazette Microfilm Committee. He stated that his office would be responsible for coordinating the gazette program and that Foreign Newspaper Report will be expanded in 1974 to include news of this new endeavor and other information about gazettes. A proposed one-year grant request to the Council on Library Resources for financial support for the gazette program was discussed and endorsed by the committee.

MICROFILMING AND DISTRIBUTION CHANGES

During the past year, the Microfilming Corporation of America (MCA) has decided to stop microfilming a number of important foreign newspapers which that firm had previously obtained exclusive rights to film. If and when appropriate permissions are obtained, most of these titles will be microfilmed on a continuing basis by the ARL foreign newspaper project at the Center for Research Libraries or by the Library of Congress. MCA has agreed to donate the negative microfilm for the years it has filmed to the institution continuing the microfilming. The list below indicates the titles being dropped by MCA and the status of plans for continuing the microfilming by others.

MEETING OF THE RTSD
FOREIGN GAZETTE MICROFILM
COMMITTEE AT ALA MIDWINTER

A meeting of the RTSD Foreign Gazette Microfilm Committee (Ad Hoc) of the American Library Association was held on January 23, 1974. The meeting was chaired by John Y. Cole, coordinator, Foreign Newspaper Microfilming, in the Reference Department of the Library of Congress. It was attended by 25 persons, who represented 13 research institutions and several commercial micropublishers.

Mr. Cole announced that the Library of Congress and the New York Public Library had recently agreed to undertake a new foreign gazette microfilming effort. The purpose of this meeting was twofold: 1) to inform those present about this program and other developments since the meeting of the group at last year's ALA midwinter meeting, and 2) to discuss the proposed project and ways in which other libraries could participate. First, however, he read a resolution passed at the 1973 Las Vegas ALA meeting by the International Documents Task Force of the Government Documents Round Table. The resolution urged "full resumption of the project for microfilming all foreign official gazettes" and asked that ARL, CRL, the New York Public Library, and the Library of Congress "give the matter of a revised cooperative project priority attention." It was noted that in November 1973, the scope of the ARL Foreign Newspaper Microfilm Committee, chaired by John G. Lorenz, Deputy Librarian of Congress, was expanded to include foreign gazette microfilming. The committee is being kept fully informed about recent gazette developments.

Mr. Cole outlined plans for the project. At this stage, at least, microfilming will be limited to national gazettes. The Library of Congress is assuming responsibility for filming national gazettes from Latin America, Asia, the Middle East, and northern Africa; New York Public Library will film those from Europe, the British Commonwealth nations (excepting India and other countries already covered by Library of Congress PL-480 activities), and Africa south of the Sahara. Other institutions with strong foreign gazette collections will supply missing issues for microfilming and will be able to purchase the microfilm. The Library of Congress and NYPL have undertaken this project as part of their national responsibility to the research community. Collating and bibliographic costs will eventually be absorbed by both institutions.

Because of the similarities between the gazette program and the functions now performed by the coordinator, Foreign Newspaper Microfilming, in the Reference Department of the Library of Congress, that office has been assigned responsibility for coordinating the gazette project. Its publication, Foreign Newspaper Report, will be expanded in 1974. As the Foreign Newspaper and Gazette Report, it will include information about the acquisition and microfilming of foreign gazettes. A request for funds to support the project for one year will be submitted to the Council on Library Resources before long; funds for three positions will be requested. If the grant is approved, it will enable LC to employ one person to compile a union list of original and microform gazette holdings in American libraries, thus providing a firm bibliographic base for the gazette program. The other positions will provide for the preparation of gazette files for microfilming at both LC and NYPL. Because virtually no current gazette filming has occurred since 1971, there is a huge backlog of material awaiting collation and filming. Mr. Cole emphasized that progress would probably be slow, for the entire project was quite complicated and still very much in the developmental stage.

For the present, the emphasis will be on putting the current gazette microfilming program on a solid foundation. However, as pointed out by John Finzi of the Library of Congress, retrospective issues will also be part of the project. Mr. Finzi noted the need for long-range planning, especially now in the early stages of the effort.

The question of participation by the Center for Research Libraries was discussed. Mr. Cole stated that it was hoped that CRL would at least purchase the microfilm produced, but that thus far there was no definite CRL commitment. The status of the CRL Foreign Gazette Microfilm Project in relation to this project therefore remains unclear. It was explained that present plans did not call for any gazette filming at CRL, even though this was still a possibility.

After considerable discussion, it was agreed that another matter in need of resolution is the relationship between the proposed gazette project and the plans of Kraus-Thomson, a commercial micropublisher that is now marketing retrospective gazettes filmed as part of the now-defunct New York Public Library/3M Corporation project. It was decided to contact Kraus-Thomson as soon as possible to explain the dimensions of the LC/NYPL project. It was generally felt that although the microfilming of selected gazette files by commercial micropublishers could very well have a place in a national gazette microfilming program, provided of course that the microfilm met approved technical standards, it seemed likely that Kraus-Thomson was not aware of the plans recently formulated for gazette microfilming within the research community.

Finally, it was agreed to contact the IFLA Public Documents Committee concerning the inclusion of foreign gazette microfilming on its agenda at the November 1974 IFLA meeting in Washington. Mr. Cole stated that the RTSD gazette committee would meet again at the ALA July meeting in New York.

REPORTING TO
NEWSPAPERS IN MICROFORM

Newspapers in Microform is a bibliography in book form prepared at the Library of Congress with the cooperation of interested U.S. and foreign libraries and commercial micropublishers. Its purpose is 1) to create a national bibliography of newspaper master microforms; 2) to serve as a standard research tool by providing comprehensive bibliographic data for each title microfilmed; 3) to provide a source of additional locations by listing the holders of service microforms; and 4) to assure the preservation of our newspaper heritage by identifying those titles which have been microfilmed.

All libraries, research institutions, and commercial micropublishers are encouraged to report their holdings to Newspapers in Microform. Information concerning master, preservation master, and service microforms of both domestic and foreign newspapers is needed. Reports may be submitted either on special Library of Congress printed form cards or on locally prepared catalog cards. Copies of the printed form card (reproduced below) and postage-free, pre-addressed labels are available from: Library of Congress, Catalog Publication Division, Editor, Newspapers in Microform, Washington, D.C. 20540. Reports should be sent to the same address. Detailed reporting instructions and guidelines for reporting to Newspapers in Microform appeared in Foreign Newspaper Report, 1973, no. 2.

RTSD FOREIGN GAZETTE MICROFILM COMMITTEE TO MEET IN NEW YORK

The RTSD Foreign Gazette Microfilm Committee (Ad Hoc) of the American Library Association will meet on Thursday, July 11, 1974, at the ALA Conference in New York City. The meeting will be held from 8:00-9:30 a.m. in Room 548 of the New York Hilton Hotel. Interested librarians, area studies specialists, and micropublishers are invited.

The primary topic will be a report on the progress being made in developing a joint Library of Congress/New York Public Library microfilming program for official foreign gazettes. The new LC/NYPL project will continue the microfilming of most of the official national gazettes formerly microfilmed as part of the New York Public Library/3M Corporation Project, which ceased several years ago. While retrospective microfilming of individual titles eventually will be included, the initial emphasis is on the resumption of the filming of current national gazettes. Libraries will be able to purchase the positive microfilm on a title-by-title basis. A list of the gazettes included in the program will be available in late 1974. It is hoped that the first microfilm will become available in 1975.

A second item on the agenda is the relationship between the LC/NYPL project and the ARL foreign official gazette project, now administered by the Center for Research Libraries. At its recent meeting in Toronto (see page 2), the ARL Standing Committee on Foreign Newspapers on Microfilm recommended that the ARL project be discontinued, at least with regard to the acquisition of current gazettes, since it, in effect, has been superseded by the LC/NYPL project. Further details will be discussed in New York and reported in the Foreign Newspaper and Gazette Report.

INFORMATION NEEDED ABOUT
FOREIGN OFFICIAL GAZETTE
MICROFILMING PROGRAMS

It would be appreciated if libraries and commercial micropublishers microfilming or contemplating microfilming any foreign official gazettes would contact the Coordinator, Foreign Newspaper Microfilming, at the Library of Congress. Information is needed about the microfilming of retrospective as well as current titles. Of particular interest is data about programs being undertaken by foreign libraries and micropublishers. Another important question, as yet unresolved, is whether any foreign governments are now microfilming their own official gazettes.

Libraries and micropublishers holding microform masters for official gazettes are urged to report them for inclusion in the National Register of Microform Masters. These reports should be directed to: Library of Congress, National Register of Microform Masters, Catalog Publication Division, Washington, D.C. 20540.

FOREIGN NEWSPAPER MICRO-FILM COMMITTEE MEETS AT
ARL TORONTO CONFERENCE

The Standing Committee on Foreign Newspapers on Microfilm of the Association of Research Libraries (ARL) met in Toronto on May 9, 1974. The meeting was conducted by John G. Lorenz, Deputy Librarian of Congress and committee chairman; committee members in attendance were Basil Stuart-Stubbs, Librarian, University of British Columbia Library, and Gordon R. Williams, Director, The Center for Research Libraries (CRL). Also present were James W. Henderson, Director of the Research Libraries, New York Public Library (NYPL); Stephen A. McCarthy, ARL Executive Director; Suzanne Frankie, ARL Assistant Executive Director; and John Y. Cole, Coordinator, Foreign Newspaper Microfilming, Library of Congress.

Mr. Williams presented a report on the ARL Foreign Newspaper Microfilm Project for the calendar year 1973, which included a statement of cash receipts and disbursements as well as a projected budget for 1974. The financial arrangement between ARL and CRL with regard to the foreign newspaper microfilm project was discussed. Mr. Williams outlined the original arrangement: since CRL did not charge the project overhead or all costs actually incurred in its administration, CRL did not allocate to the project any interest it might earn on project funds. Since this arrangement apparently has caused some misunderstanding, it was agreed to discontinue it as of January 1974. In the future, CRL will allocate to the project any interest earned through the year on project funds and will charge the project all incurred direct costs as closely as these can be estimated. (Note: this arrangement was approved by the CRL Board of Directors on May 21, 1974.) It was agreed that an annual report on all phases of the project was useful and would be continued in the future.

Mr. Williams projected a balance of $69,000 at the end of 1974, but noted that the proposed backfile purchases will reduce that sum considerably. He felt that the project should maintain a balance of approximately $10,000 and the committee concurred. It was agreed to reduce the balance to that level over a three-year period.

Mr. Cole presented a recommendation for the purchase of retrospective files that he had prepared in conjunction with Mrs. Elizabeth Sweetland, project manager. Retrospective files of 15 foreign newspapers, totaling $29,500, were approved for purchase. Mr. Cole also noted that during 1974 the project will microfilm a retrospective file (1924-1939) of La Nación of Buenos Aires. The estimated cost is $8,000. The point was made that these expenditures will not alter the demand purchase policy now in effect within the project.

Committee approval of another expenditure was requested by Mr. Williams. He proposed that the project purchase the retrospective microfilm files of titles included in the project but held by other cooperative projects also administered by the CRL, specifically the Cooperative Africana Microform Project (CAMP), the South Asia Microform Project (SAMP), and the Southeast Asia Microform Project (SEAM). Since virtually all members of these projects also subscribe to the ARL Foreign Newspaper Microfilm Project, this step seems most practical. The microfilm would be sold at cost for approximately $3,000. In the future, this would mean that CAMP, SAMP, and SEAM would not obtain microfilm of retrospective files of foreign newspapers included in the project; instead, the project itself would purchase them. This proposal was accepted, subject to the approval of the other cooperative projects.

To avoid unnecessary duplication of positive microfilm, Mr. Williams proposed that the CRL make available to ARL project subscribers those retrospective positive microfilm files that CRL owns of newspaper titles included in the ARL project. In return, the project will make available for loan to CRL members those microfilm files owned by the project that duplicate CRL holdings of original newsprint. It was agreed that this proposal would, in fact, clarify the relationship between the CRL and ARL projects.

The committee approved this suggestion, subject to approval by the CRL Board of Directors. (Note: this arrangement was approved by the CRL Board on May 21, 1974.)

It was pointed out that a new holdings list for the project would be useful, particularly in view of its recent--and anticipated--expansion. It was agreed to proceed with such a list. The ARL office will be placed on the mailing list to receive this and all other project circulars. (Note: the new holdings list was mailed to project subscribers on June 10, 1974.)

Mr. Cole outlined the relationship between the new LC/NYPL joint gazette microfilming project and the ARL Foreign Official Gazette Microfilm Project, another cooperative project under the jurisdiction of this committee. He recommended that the ARL gazette project be phased out, at least with regard to the acquisition of new gazettes, since all titles filmed as part of the LC/NYPL program will be available on loan from LC. These gazettes generally will date from 1970 onward. The committee agreed. Furthermore, Messrs. Henderson, Williams, and Cole will investigate methods by which all gazettes filmed prior to 1970 by the New York Public Library might be made available for loan. The committee felt that the $10,800 balance presently in the ARL gazette project should be used for this purpose, as well as for support of the LC/NYPL gazette project. After further study, a recommendation from the committee will be formulated and sent to ARL gazette project subscribers. In the meantime, no fees will be collected and subscribers will be kept informed of developments through the LC Foreign Newspaper and Gazette Report.

NEWS FROM THE ARL FOREIGN NEWSPAPER MICROFILM PROJECT

Information about the project's purpose, its membership, and subscription fees may be obtained from: Foreign Newspaper Microfilm Project, The Center for Research Libraries, 5721 Cottage Grove Avenue, Chicago, Ill. 60637.

SUMMARY OF REPORT FOR CALENDAR YEAR 1973. There are now 80 libraries subscribing to the project. The project is providing subscribers with microfilm copies of 143 foreign newspapers on a current basis. Of these, the project is itself microfilming 80 titles, and it is buying positive microfilm copies of 63 titles from other, mostly commercial firms. This is an increase of 23 titles over 1972. In addition to these 143 current titles, the project has available microfilm copies, in various lengths of files, for another 61 titles that have ceased publication since they were first added to the project or have become unavailable for other reasons, such as the inability or the unwillingness of the publisher to provide copies on a regular basis. During the year the project extended the backfiles of 8 titles by the purchase of positive microfilm.

In 1973 the project received 905 requests for loan of positive microfilm; 821 of these requests were filled, an average of about three per day. The 84 unfilled requests were for a portion of a file not owned by the project. Approximately 1,116,000 feet of positive microfilm were produced from project-owned negatives for purchase by libraries. Of this, 767,000 feet were for libraries subscribing to the project, and 349,000 feet were for non-subscribing libraries. During 1973 the project took in $164,733. It expended $153,784 and incurred commitments for an additional $17,200 for a total expenditure and commitment of $170,984. The free balance at the end of the year was $71,234.

BACKFILE DEMAND PURCHASE POLICY. Upon request of a subscriber, the project will purchase individual titles for years earlier than those now held. This policy is limited to newspapers currently being acquired. If microfilm does not exist for the years requested, the project will attempt to acquire original issues for microfilming. Requests should be made through the interlibrary loan system and should reflect actual research needs.

ADDITIONAL RETROSPECTIVE FILES TO BE ORDERED. The ARL Standing Committee on Foreign Newspapers on Microfilm has approved the purchase of retrospective files of 15 newspapers currently being acquired. The titles are listed below. Precise information about the years covered will be reported in Foreign Newspaper and Gazette Report when the microfilm is received.

THE SCOPE AND PURPOSE OF
NEWSPAPERS IN MICROFORM:
FOREIGN COUNTRIES

The following statement, excerpted from the introduction to Newspapers in Microform: Foreign Countries (1948-1972), outlines the scope of the volume, the rationale for its separate publication, and the renewed interest of the Library of Congress in foreign newspaper microfilming.

"This volume is a cumulation of all reports contained in the foreign countries section of Newspapers on Microfilm (1948-1967), together with reports received through the summer of 1972. The use of microfiche and micro-opaque forms in the reproduction of an increasing number of newspapers seemed to demand the use of the word microform in the title of this edition.

"The number of newspapers included here varies widely from country to country. In many developing nations there is no obvious urgency about reducing newspapers to microform, and there is no particular reason why the state library of a central European nation should report its holdings of microfilmed newspapers to the Library of Congress. From the point of view of American readers, there is little to be gained from the knowledge that a newspaper has been filmed in a certain country if there is no way they can obtain that film or a copy of it.

"Because the availability of foreign newspapers in microform is so different from that of U.S. newspapers and because the information in each instance generally serves different interests, it seems useful to present reports on foreign newspapers in this volume and those for domestic newspapers in a companion publication, Newspapers in Microform: United States. This arrangement can permit greater flexibility in issuing supplements or later editions of each publication, and it can better serve the varying interests of users.

"What seems to be a rather simple decision is complicated by the varying degrees of 'foreignness' that exist in both political and human relations. There was considerable incentive to include Canadian newspapers in the United States volume. Traditional ties between these English-speaking countries are reflected in the similarity of their microfilming programs. Canadian papers are filmed on a regular basis in Canada, the microforms are reported to the Library of Congress, and U.S. citizens can usually obtain these microforms as easily as they can obtain those made in the United States. To make an exception for Canada, however, would seem to discriminate against Mexico and Latin America and would involve a rather arbitrary definition of the scope of the two publications. This bibliography, therefore, includes all foreign countries and employs the word 'foreign' in its basic meaning: situated outside one's own country--in this case, the territorial limits of the 50 United States as they existed at the end of the year 1972. In addition it has been possible to give reports for U.S. territories and possessions in both publications, since only a few newspapers are involved.

"Although only those microforms that can be obtained without traveling abroad have practical interest for most users of this bibliography, foreign holdings of microforms which cannot be purchased or borrowed in the United States are nevertheless reported here, in the hope that knowledge of such holdings may be useful to institutions that may be planning to film a paper. Eventually, knowledge of microfilming efforts by foreign countries may lead to improvement in what is still a rather primitive stage in the development of interlibrary cooperation on the international level.

"This catalog necessarily reflects efforts made in the United States to film foreign newspapers. Much of our information comes from participating members of the Foreign Newspaper Microfilm Project of the Association of Research Libraries, which represents a 20-year effort in this area. The Library of Congress, because of its role as source of information for Congress and the government generally, has felt a special obligation to make available in this country as complete a spectrum of foreign newspapers as it can produce. It is also possible to buy copies of foreign newspapers in microform from an increasing number of foreign microform publishers. These range from great government institutions like the British Museum to small private enterprises which have come on the scene for commercial purposes but which produce acceptable products that are for sale to anyone. Some producers send regular reports to the Library of Congress about new titles they have filmed. In other instances an occasional catalog is the only source of information. The information published here is the most recent available, and care has been taken to verify the addresses of all microform producers listed.

"In creating the office of Coordinator of Foreign Newspaper Microfilming in its Reference Department late in 1972, the Library of Congress indicated its renewed dedication to a complex task. 'The goal of the expanded foreign newspaper activity at the Library of Congress is improved bibliographic access to foreign newspapers and, eventually, comprehensive coverage of current and retrospective foreign newspapers among research libraries' (Foreign Newspaper Report, No. 1, p. 2). The editors of this volume hope that reports will become so numerous that every Soviet Republic, every province of China, every prefecture of Japan will eventually require individual identification in these pages. In the meantime, this publication presents the reports currently in hand, with as much pertinent information as is available to the editors. Use will demonstrate that more extensive microfilming is necessary for many areas of the world, and more complete bibliographic information is required for many newspapers that have already been filmed."

LIBRARIES ENCOURAGED TO SEND REVISED AND SUPPLEMENTARY
DATA TO NEWSPAPERS IN MICROFORM

Since it is a cumulation of reports submitted by individual libraries and micropublishers, Newspapers in Microform: Foreign Countries is only as accurate as the reports themselves. Therefore, when discrepancies or errors are noticed, users are encouraged to report them to the Library of Congress; it is only through such action that the accuracy of future editions will be ensured. It would be helpful if corrections, revisions, and supplementary data were noted as such, to distinguish them from data that has already been published. Reports should be sent to the Library of Congress, Catalog Publication Division, Newspapers in Microform, Washington, D.C. 20540. Reporting forms, as well as reporting instructions, are available from the same office.

THE ARL CENTER FOR
CHINESE RESEARCH MATERIALS

The Center for Chinese Research Materials was established in 1968, in response to a proposal submitted to the Ford Foundation by the Joint Committee on Contemporary China and the Association of Research Libraries. Its primary purpose is to acquire, reproduce, and distribute Chinese research materials needed by libraries and scholars, particularly with regard to the study of 20th-century China. Thus far, the center has concentrated on the reproduction of Chinese-language newspapers and journals. The center is administered by ARL; the director since its inception has been P.K. Yu, formerly of the University of Hong Kong. Policy guidance is provided by an advisory committee of three professors in the field of China studies and three librarians.

Listed below is a selection of Chinese newspapers available for purchase from the center. A newsletter containing detailed descriptions of these titles may also be obtained. Interested persons should write directly to the Center for Chinese Research Materials, Association of Research Libraries, 1527 New Hampshire Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. Orders should be sent to the same address.

FOREIGN OFFICIAL GAZETTES ON MICROFILM NOW
AVAILABLE FROM NYPL AND LC

This issue of Foreign Newspaper and Gazette Report features announcements of foreign national gazettes that are available on microfilm from the New York Public Library and the Library of Congress. The gazettes now available from NYPL (see pages 3-7) have been microfilmed during the past year as part of a new cooperative program with LC. Additional titles will be announced as the microfilm becomes available. The list of gazettes available from the Library of Congress (see pages 8-10) includes titles filmed in past years and as part of other cooperative projects, as well as titles recently filmed in the NYPL/LC program. For this reason, the LC list includes both current and retrospective issues of national gazettes. Additional titles from LC will also be announced as the microfilm becomes available.

The purpose of the NYPL/LC gazette project, explained in detail in issue no. 1 (1974) of this report, is to make official national gazettes from nations throughout the world available on microfilm on a reasonably current basis. Concurrently, the project seeks to avoid duplicate microfilming and will coordinate its program with other official gazette microfilming efforts. If agencies of other governments or commercial micropublishers are successfully producing archival quality microfilm of current gazettes, the list of titles filmed in the NYPL/LC program will be adjusted accordingly. For this reason, it would be appreciated if libraries, government agencies, and commercial micropublishers now microfilming or contemplating microfilming any official gazette(s) write to the coordinator, foreign newspaper microfilming, at the Library of Congress. In particular, information is needed about gazette microfilming efforts of national governments, national libraries, and commercial micropublishers outside of the United States.

MEETING OF THE RTSD
FOREIGN GAZETTE MICROFILM
COMMITTEE AT NEW YORK ALA

A meeting of the RTSD Foreign Gazette Microfilm Committee (Ad Hoc) was held on July 11, 1974, at the ALA annual meeting in New York City. It was chaired by John Y. Cole, coordinator, foreign newspaper microfilming, Library of Congress. In attendance were 21 persons representing various research institutions and commercial micropublishers.

Mr. Cole began the meeting by reviewing the purposes of the new Library of Congress/New York Public Library foreign official gazette microfilming project and then presented a brief report on recent developments. He noted that more detailed information is available in the LC Foreign Newspaper and Gazette Report, which is issued three times a year. He listed two immediate project objectives: agreement on pricing arrangements and publication of the first list of titles of national gazettes available for purchase. Officials from LC and NYPL planned to meet in August to discuss these topics. He stated that both institutions hope to have microfilm for selected titles available by late 1974 or early 1975. Mrs. Pam Darling of the Preservation Programs Office, NYPL, reported on microfilming at NYPL. She stated that over $34,000 had been spent during the past year on gazette microfilming.

A discussion was held concerning several topics related to the new project: the collation of gazette files and the efforts being made to obtain missing issues before microfilming; the importance of maintaining archival technical standards; and the need to begin microfilming selected retrospective gazette files as soon as possible. Mr. Cole said that his office had started to compile, on an informal basis, information about official gazette holdings in American research libraries. This file, which includes data about both original and microfilm copies, will be of great assistance in planning future microfilming. The need for more information about gazette microfilming programs being carried out by foreign governmental agencies, national libraries, and commercial micropublishers was emphasized.

The current status of the ARL Foreign Official Gazette Project was discussed. Mr. Cole explained that the ARL Standing Committee on Foreign Newspapers on Microfilm is considering the possibility of discontinuing this project, at least with regard to the acquisition of current gazettes; the reason is that all microfilm produced by the joint LC/NYPL project eventually will be purchased by LC and available through that institution. Subscribers to the ARL Gazette Project will be polled at a later date concerning the project's future.
